We build quality into every component of our Amana® Distinctions® brand heating and air conditioning products. That's why our Amana Distinctions brand DGPH13H 13 SEER Packaged Heat Pump has a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating (SEER) of 13 — a significant improvement in energy-saving efficiency over many of the units installed outside of homes today. Your savings can add up very quickly — especially in hot weather, when energy use can increase dramatically.

The savings start with our efficient condensing coil design. We use only high-quality rifled copper tubing and corrugated aluminum fins, which withstand the corrosive effects of moisture and extreme temperatures. Our coil design provides more cooling surface, which further increases efficiency and decreases your energy bill. Additionally, every coil that goes into an Amana Distinctions brand Packaged Heat Pump is thoroughly tested.

Combine this unique coil design with our high-quality compressor, and you have an energy-efficient Amana Distinctions brand DGPH13H 13 SEER Packaged Heat Pump that you can rely on for years to come.

Quality You've Come to Expect from Amana Brand Products

In addition to outstanding energy efficiency, the Amana Distinctions brand DGPH13H 13 SEER Packaged Heat Pump provides you with the following benefits:
